Men Choose '46 Members Of Assembly Representatives Elected Tuesday

Voting plans for Tuesday's elections were formulated at a meeting of the Men's Assembly held Friday, March 8, at 10:00 p.m. in Gifford Hall.

As the meeting could not be held at an earlier date, Robert C. Terrill '46, president of the men's undergrad, had tentatively drawn up the plans before on the assumption of an ex post facto approval.

Secret Ballot

It was decided that the entire Men's Assembly be re-elected by secret ballot, Mr. Terrill supervising the election. There was some discussion about whether Gifford should elect one or two representatives per floor, but two, a proctor and a representative were finally resolved upon.

Election results are as follows: Gifford: the first floor proctor is Charles T. Meilleur '46 and the representative is Jack Barlow '49. The second floor proctor is Hugh H. Mathews '47 and the representative is Charles A. Scott '46. The third floor proctor is Donald Y. Gilmore '47 and the representative is Thornton Schoch '46. The fourth floor proctor is Peter Fagg '47 and the representative is William P. Neale '46. The fifth floor proctor is Wilbur F. Weeks '48 and the representative is William S. Dodd '47.

Other Representatives

Chi Psi representative and proctor is James T. Wright '49. Sargent House representative and proctor is Henry L. Cady '47. Howard House representative and proctor is Roy H. Kinsey '47. Sanford House representative and proctor is Charles H. Pope '48. Seeley House representative and proctor is Harold W. Richardson '49.

Men who live off campus held their elections Wednesday morning after chapel.

Faculty to Stage Benefit Vaudeville

A benefit vaudeville show will be presented by the faculty at 7:15 this Saturday evening at the college playhouse.

For those who are not planning to attend the dance, there will be a repeat performance given at 8:15. Price of admission will be $.30. Proceeds will be used to supply money for the Porter hospital.

The vaudeville show will include "Casey at the Bat" along with the dramatizations of various other old-time songs. There will be about ten acts in all, featuring Prof. and Mrs. Claude L. Bourcier, Prof. and Mrs. John A. Holden, Mr. Irwin K. French, Mr. Samuel Guarnaccia, and Mrs. Robert W. Rafuse. Prof. and Mrs. John G. Bowker are presenting an act with Dr. and Mrs. Harold B. Hitchcock, Mrs. Rafuse with Mrs. Erie T. Volkert, Prof. Bourcier with Prof. John T. Andrew, accompanied by the piano. Miss Alice E. Cooke, Miss Evelyn L. Cosby, Miss Rose E. Martin, Miss Teriz Malootian, and Miss Maxine J. Shurtz will present another act. There may be a singing chorus to complete the show.

This vaudeville show was previously given by the Cosmos Club for their own members.

VILLAGERS VOTE MIDDLEBURY DRY

Middlebury, at its town meeting held in the Middlebury high school gym on Tuesday, March 5, decided that spirituous liquors would not be sold in this town after May 1, 1946.

This was the first time since Middlebury has held the power of restricting liquor sales, that the citizens have voted against the selling of hard liquor. However, beers, ales, and wines will be sold after that date.

Another vote was passed by the Middlebury citizens. The plan for the erection of a new field house as a War Memorial was approved, following the plans of President Samuel S. Stratton.

Women's Dorms Elect Assembly Representatives

Women's assembly elections were, for the spring term, held Tuesday, March 12, in all the dorms

Battell house president is Edith P. Williams '48 and the assembly representative is Natelle M. Benson '48.

Chateau house president is Eunice P. Goodfellow '47 and the representatives are Sarah McCullough '47, Selma J. Weiss '47, and Genevieve Karnazyn '49.

Eaton house president is Priscilla A. Thwaits '49 and the representatives are Rachel L. Adkins '49 and Doris J. Queren '49.

Forest East house president is Natalie M. Fox '46 and the representatives are Marion E. Fisher '46, Marjorie Wight '46, Lu T. Newton '47, G. Evelyn Pierce '47, and Betsy Barclay '48.

Forest West house president is Esther L. Walsh '47 and the representatives are Janet H. Kasper '46, Elizabeth G. Royce '46, and Cornelia H. Smith '46, and A. Elaine Gavagan '47.

Hepburn house president is Alice A. Neef '47, and the representatives are Alice L. Ashley '47, E. Sue Carr '47, Edith M. Gordon '47, Adrienne C. Northam '47, Sally A. Finley '48, Jean G. Huey '48, Elaine R. Phillipp '48,

SAA Presents Radio Program

In a broadcast this afternoon from station WCAX in Burlington, S. A. A. presented the idea of freedom through the mediums of poetry and classical music. Joan L. Biggs '48 and Jean Birkenstein '48 wrote the script, and worked in appropriate music of Beethoven, Chopin and Shostakovitch, and poetic selections from Shelley, Whitman, Lindsay and Sandburg. Members of the cast were: Charles L. Cutting '46, Joan L. Biggs '48, Iris J. Forst '48, Ingrid H. Goldsmith '48, Irmgard Nierhaus '48, Barbara J. Burris '49.

Political Thought Poll

On March 15 S. A. A. will conduct a poll for determining the general trend of political thought on campus. Jean N. Rapaport '48 is chairman. Other members of the committee are: George F. Wiemann '47, Howard V. Young '47, Richard E. Holbrook '48, Ruth C. Murphy '48, Janet L. Rice '48, and Lorena M. Laing '49.

S. A. A. Dance

This Saturday evening, March 16, at 8.30, the Black Panthers will make their initial appearance at a St. Patrick's Dance sponsored by S. A. A. Sally L. Finley '48 and Virginia M. Knudson '48 are co-chairmen. Other committees and their heads are: Orchestra, George F. Wiemann '47; Refreshments, Martha S. Cooke '48, and Lorette M. Lapolice '48; Decorations, Marilyn A. Drake '48; Tickets, Janet L. Rice '48.

A new membership drive will begin March 18. No definite plans have been formulated yet. Jean N. Rapaport '48, vice- president of S. A. A. is in charge.

Conference Discussion

On March 20, Wednesday at 7.30 in Munroe 303, S. A. A. will sponsor a preculture conference meeting. There will be three speakers: Professors Richard L. Brown, Stephen A. Freeman and Robert W. Rafuse. Their subjects respectively are: Justification of the Artist in the Scientist's World, Freedom and Security on an International Scale, and Freedom and Security on a National Scale. These three topics represent the three panels of the culture conference, and through them S. A. A. is trying to accentuate the highlights of the conference itself, and prepare any persons interested for the conference speakers.

Ex-Dean Becomes Emerson President

Dr. Boylston Green, who was previously Acting Dean of the Men's College and Coordinator for the Navy V-12 Unit at Middlebury College, will be inaugurated as the fifth president of Emerson College in the Old South Church in Boston on Friday, March 15.

Former Affiliations

Dr. Green who was born in Columbia, S. C., was educated at the University of South Carolina where he received his B.A. and M.A. degrees. For the next six years he did advertising and sales promotion work in association with R. H. Macy and Company in New York. He then returned to the educational field, teaching at the University of Missouri and the University of Texas and, while taking his doctorate at Yale University, Dr. Green served as assistant in the Department of English.

Self Expression Stressed

Emerson College, now in its 66th scholastic year, was founded by Dr. Charles Wesley Emerson, who, as a pioneer educator, many years ahead of his time, set forth as his aim, the education of the individual through the power of self expression. Dr. Emerson's principles are largely responsible for the rapid progress that has been made in the past two decades.

Emerson College grants Bachelor of Arts as well as Master of Arts degrees. Four distinguished educators preceded Dr. Green as presidents of the college which for well over 50 years has trained hundreds of young men and women from all over the United States and from foreign countries.

Fraternities To Hold Meeting for Neutrals

Quotas Will Be Decided By Total Interested In Joining

Middlebury's eight social fraternities enter into their first rushing period since the fall of 1942 tomorrow evening, when all non-fraternity men have the opportunity of meeting with the officers of the Interfraternity Council at 7:15 p.m. in Munroe Hall.

To Discuss Rushing Rules

President George F. Weimann III, '46, has stressed the importance of this meeting as it is the only occasion for the entire non-fraternity men's body to meet and discuss the newly-formed rushing rules.

The period of silence will still be in effect until the night of the first smoker to be held Monday night, March 18. At this time the procedure will be as follows: the neutral men will be divided into eight groups, since there are that many fraternities located on campus. Each group will be separated by term, alphabetically, with approximately twenty-five men per category. Monday the 18th, Thursday the 21st, Monday the 25th and Thursday the 28th, are the dates of the smokers, with two 45-minute periods scheduled for each smoker night, thus enabling all groups to visit each fraternity's assigned room in Munroe.

Quotas Set Later

Quotas will be decided upon after the completion of the first smoker. As set up in the constitution and by-laws of the Interfraternity Council, the quota for each fraternity will be large enough so that every man wishing to join a fraternity will be included.

Questions concerning the quota system, the grouping and other inquiries will be answered at the Friday, March 15, meeting.

Committees Chosen For One-Act Plays

Committees assisting in the production of the three one-act plays, Poison, Passion, and Petrification, St. Michael Comes to Shepherd's Bush, and Day's End, have been announced by H. Janet Kasper '46.

Make-up

Members of the Make-up committee are as follows: Marion F. Bodine, Jean Davis, Alice I. DeLorenzo, Suzanne A. Gard, Alice M. Leach, Lulabel T. Newton, Jacqueline H. Ord, Jane H. Strayer, Charlotte N. Whitney, class of '47; Morton M. Bass, Janet I. Goeltz, Margery A. Lehmann, Allanah I. MacInnis, Katherine A. Rapp, Gloria G. Tanner, Mary E. Taylor, Shirley A. Tisdale, class of '48; Betty M. Dean, Katherine A. Gallagher, Priscilla R. Noyes, class of '49.

Construction

Publicity committee: June E. Brookman, Dorothy A. Lindemann, Virginia L. Stowell, class of '47; Ingrid H. Goldsmith, Elizabeth P. Reid, Betty L. Rob-

Cecil Steen, Middlebury Black Panthers To Make Their Debut on Saturday Night

Foo Mathews

At 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 16, an all-civilian dance orchestra will play for dancing, the first since the winter of 1943. It is significant that the college has so completely returned to normalcy just six months after the war's end.

Premiere Saturday Night

Under the direction of "Cece" Steen, the men put in nine hours of hard work last week and will probably top that figure this week. All this effort in order to be in good shape for the world premiere at the S.A.A. dance this Saturday night. With several new additions to the repertoire the music should be very fine. We cannot expect the excellent pre-war standards to be met because the outfit has only been in rehearsal for a little over a week, but good music for dancing will be in abundance.

Talented Musicians

The line-up of musicians exhibits a lot of talent. I must say that the turn-out was better than anyone expected, and the students have cooperated 100 per cent. The brass section is under the leadership of Bud Moore who does a fine job of holding the men together. Ray Walch and Joe Kearney are the other two trumpeters. John Gale and Dave Rowell fill out the section in the trombone chairs. In the front row the sax team consists of "Cece" Steen and "yours truly" on altos and Don Campbell and Jean Herbert on the tenors. The rhythm is being supplied by Bob Seixas at the piano, Bud Gubitz on the skins, George Sholes on the "big bass viol," and Dave Smith with his guitar. Working together is the point to be stressed at this time; we have the library and we have the men to play it. All that is needed is a lot of work to accomplish a decent blend. If the men all continue to be as eager to work and improve as they are at present, I predict that the Panthers will be the best ever. I think that bossman Steen would do well to hire Dan Dickinson to pen the band's arrangements after hearing the one he did on the Doxology at Chapel last Sunday. It was really fine.

News Travels Fast

It would be advisable for all those organizations who want to hire the band to get their bids in early because "Cece" wants to make out a schedule of operations and fill in with outside jobs. The band has already had inquiries from Rutland, Burlington, and other towns in the area. News travels fast!

I think that all Midd will be pleased with the band, but don't take my word for it; go down Saturday night and have a listen for yourself. The outfit has been reactivated chiefly for your pleasure and we sure hope you like it. I think "Cece" would welcome any suggestions or requests that you may have. Let him know what you think. Have a good time at the dance.

VOL. XLIII MARCH 14, 1946 NO. 9

Do We Care?

Listening to the news as our deadline approached, we could not help but wonder if the suggestion, made in the Free Speech column on this page, that we are living in a cloistered community—in our selfish ivory tower of idealism, ambition, and self-admiration—is not the timely criticism that is desperately needed to shock us into some honest thinking.

The writer hit the nail on the head in the sense that the general interests of the majority of students here are essentially petty. It is perhaps unfair, however, to lay the blame on any one source. A little analysis carries it beyond the limits of college and offers an explanation for the chaos that the radio and newspapers show us exists in the world today—March 14, 1946.

Regardless of our desires for and still present hopes of a peaceful outcome, the obvious smallness of man in his greed and refusal to even want to understand and tolerate another would seem to indicate the rapid approach of another war. Reports on the increasing domestic and foreign problems facing every country in the world create a feeling of despair and futility that many individuals will soon find difficult to subdue.

The problem is both personal and impersonal, and we have to face both phases if we hope to satisfy our own integrity and save the world—literally. Man can be accused of pettiness in the personal problem—which, for us, means in our college life and attitude—and man should be accused of pettiness in the impersonal problem of keeping the human race alive and orderly in the world.

No one of us here, students, faculty, or administration, possesses the knowledge, vision, or facts necessary to even attempt to solve the huge impersonal problem that involves us collectively. Considering the situation, it might be safe to say that no one does. We make a grave mistake if we do not admit our inadequacy.

Personally, or individually, we have even more urgent need of recognition of our pettiness. It seems impossible, under present conditions, that anyone could even think he was fooling himself with a disinterested attitude about all else save himself. Actually, we individually are an unimportant and unnecessary part of humanity. If we don't care, certainly no one else has the time or inclination to care for us. And it is most vital that we do care.

It would be insulting to imply that no one in Middlebury is conscious of the plight of the world. On the contrary, perhaps we are 100% informed, either voluntarily or because of constant exposure to the facts in classrooms, in the papers, and on the radio. Middlebury is open to criticism, however, because we do little to express our concern. The Free Speech column and student chapel programs are two obvious channels that could be utilized by those who feel that they should do something to jolt our attitude out of its rut.

Our apparent concern over details of college life which the writer of the above mentioned letter laments undoubtedly shows a shameful degree of self-interest and pettiness—but it is also quite frequently the expression of opposition to those details which some feel to be petty. The decision as to which explanation is the right one depends on the individual attitudes of those who are being criticized for their narrow outlook and interests. Many keenly interested students concern themselves over seemingly unimportant issues because they recognize the need for exposing and combatting pettiness wherever they find it.

Those who, despite this possible explanation, still feel that Middlebury's attitude is hopelessly limited and ineffectual have ample opportunity, and even an obligation, to do something about it. It may be hard to stimulate desired anger, interest, or sympathy, but it is not impossible. It we refuse to prod ourselves, we need a push from someone else.

French Club Holds Formal Ball Saturday

Marie M. Scudder '46

Emphatically assuring their dates that it was not taboo to parler anglais, French club members and guests danced "In Normandy" in the Chateau grand salon at the annual club formal Saturday, March 9.

Surrounded by green trees scattered with pink and white blossoms, a fountain flowing silver "water," and a green-thatched house, approximately 50 couples danced to recorded music of number-one bands (plus a prevalence of Bing Crosby). Two alcoves, decorated with a Normandy hillside, country home and garden followed the dance theme as well as pink, green, and white streamers extending from the walls to the chandeliers.

Clever dance programs made by Janice L. Hand '47, were shaped as a Normandy inn sketched in pencil—nor were they put in the O.A.O.'s breast pocket to be forgotten for the evening, as everyone exchanged dances during the "soiree." During intermission, Mme. Binand's petit salon and one of the Chateau classrooms effectively converted into a lounge were filled with couples relaxing from rhumbas, waltzes, and Bing Crosby. Blackboards in the "lounge" were camouflaged with attractive colored-chalk sketches of the Normandy coast and hillsides.

Faculty guests at the formal included Prof. and Mrs. Stephen A. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Bourcier, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ranty, Dr. and Mrs. Mischa H. Fayer, Miss Lea Binand, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Woodward. Joy Redfield '46 was chairman of the dance and Elma M. Baldrick '46 in charge of decorations.

CLUB NOTE

Yacht Club

A group of students met with Prof. Richard L. Brown Friday, March 8, to discuss the possibilities of reforming the Middlebury College Yacht Club. The club was active until the outbreak of the war, at which time it was forced to suspend its activities.

Free Speech

The editors are not responsible for opinions expressed in this column unless they are clearly prefaced by "Editors' Note."

To the Editors:

Although it is admittedly the personal choice of the individual to make decisions for himself, still it seems to me that the CAMPUS has been woefully lacking in certain respects in regard to handing out certain information to veterans. To wit: their present possibilities to organize or affiliate themselves with certain existing or new in-the-process-of-being-formed veterans organizations.

While college is admittedly an important step in the achievement of one's goal in life, let us face the fact that the present unhappy state of the nation is something that can be changed in the future if the men and women who fought this war can also fight the peace. And this includes fighting with every available means against what they consider detrimental to the good of the nation.

In my estimation the CAMPUS through its editorial policy, or through a specialized column dealing with specific veterans, should foster an interest in this potentially important phase in the life of the majority of members of the men's college. Or is it that the world of the CAMPUS terminates, like their noses, within the cloistered walls of Middlebury?

L. M. SELLECK, JR. '47.

To the Editors:

We would like to put a motion onto the floor that all women be required to wear name tags for the period of one week. These name tags should be clearly legible from a distance of several feet.

The purpose of this is obvious. Many men would like dates, but are too bashful (this does not include the subscribed), to bluntly approach a girl and ask her her name. After all, how can a man call up a girl if he doesn't know her name?

To the Editors:

A word of praise for the excellent editorial in the March 7 issue of the CAMPUS. I think it expresses the feelings of many of the students. Let's hope it gets some action!

Doris L. Jones '48, after 8 hours of dual instruction from Joseph Rock and Kenneth R. Beckwith '47, soloed Wednesday, February 20 at Bristol Municipal Airport.

Miss Jones has been a member of the Club since its origin in November, 1945. Jean H. Mace '47 and John F. Smith '49, have recently become members of the Club.

Joseph Rock has purchased a new Aeronca Champion so that there are now three planes available for use. The Club membership is open to anyone.

Humanities Gives Theme Of American Man, Mar. 8

Literature and language contributions to the development of the American man was the theme of the program presented by Humanities which was held in Forest East living room, March 8 at 8:00 p.m.

Bert Haas '48 read amusing excerpts from the autobiography, Anything Can Happen. The book tells of the life of George and Helen Papashvily here in America, and of their diverting experiences in a country which is foreign to them. Irmgard Nierhaus '48 read from the book, Our Hearts Were Young and Gay which is the story of the travels of Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough in Europe at the age of 20. Professor Reginald L. Cooke read amusing incidents from "Leader of the People" which is taken from Long Valley by John Steinbeck.

Coeds Eagerly Crowd Library For Knowledge

Jo Buck

Many people had been worried that with the influx of 163 new men (increasing total enrollment to 285, 222 veterans (71 former Midd students), 30 married 255 single) that the students of Middlebury would be devoting less time to the quest for mental enlightenment. But these worries have turned out to be largely unfounded, according to information that was released recently.

Turn Toward Studying

There has been a noticeable turn toward studying, as evidenced by the fact that each day and night the library has been crowded with a multitude of eager students. It seems that some girls who have joined this multitude hadn't been seen within the libe since their freshman inspection of the building. One of these "converts" was mistaken for a visitor and asked if she would like to be conducted through the library.

The New Era

Many incidents, too numerous to be cited in this small space, are indicative of this new trend. There was a girl sitting in the main room one night who stayed on the same page for two and one-half hours. Never before in the glorious history of the "college on the hill" has a student been able to get so much out of one page. Formerly, students would race through their assignments; the new era brings with it a slower, more earnest concentration on each page.

In the past, coeds could be found in clusters at tables. Nowadays when such a group arrives at the library, each girl singles out a separate table. Thus it can be seen that the student does not desire to fritter away her time in the library, but get something worthwhile accomplished.

When historians refer to the year 1946 in their documentations on "Life at Middlebury," perhaps they will call it the "Renaissance of the Search for Knowledge" or a more plebian expression, "Business(?) Before Pleasure."

SPORTS

BILLBOARD

Midd's Black Panthers are really shaping up. I had the pleasure of sitting in on a rehearsal the other afternoon, and they were good. Don't get me wrong, they aren't sensational, but they are as good as anything in this neck of the woods. As Foo said, "Main thing is, they're working hard." Wait and see for yourself. The Panthers will play at the dance this coming Saturday night.

Oh yes, that reminds me anyone desirous of hiring the Black Panthers is urged to contact Cecil Steen in Gifford.

Picture of the week: The nylon lineup at the Grey Shop last Saturday morning. Looked like Gimbels.

Right now, there's a crying need for managers to help out in the spring sports, as well as intramurals. Maybe some of you don't realize it, but a manager gets the same type of sweater and letter that the members of the teams receive. Coach Brown needs men to take over the managerial jobs on the track team especially.

Thanks to "Cinny" Proud and "Terry" Schnyder for leading cheers at the ball game the other night.

No sooner did the basketball experts get the national picture painted last week and thought that it would stand for the rest of the season, when throughout the week upsets occurred to ruin all their findings, foremost among them being C.C.N.Y.'s triumph over a bewildered N.Y.U. team, which before game time was considered the best team in the country. Army stung Navy, too—67 to 60.

Spring must be coming—the maple sugar buckets are out and the board track is crowded—(but there's still room for more!).

No comment is necessary on the basketball club, just remember that other teams have had longer losing streaks—the U. of Chicago dropped 60 straight in Big Ten competition!

As everyone sez, "Next year."

Take it easy, "Doc," you're working too hard.

WOLF.

Champ Title Goes To New Students

As the warmup to the Midd-St. Lawrence game, held last Saturday evening in the Middlebury high school gym, the quintet representing Fraternity Row battled the Fourth floor cagers for the three quarters, and then went on to win 20 to 14, thereby establishing themselves as the basketball champions of the second semester.

A rough and tumble contest was evident from the start, as both teams went all out in an effort to gain the coveted title.

Throughout the entire game both squads did their utmost to assure victory for their respective teams, the result being that the score changed hands at least six different times and it wasn't until the final minute of play that Fraternity Row gained a sufficient lead to give them the title.

Midd to Feature Baseball, Track In Spring Sports

Frank M. Goldsmith

Although actions have slowed down to the proverbial snail's pace on the present Middlebury sports scene, Coaches Art Brown and "Red" Kelly, Midd's track and baseball mentors respectively, are using the murky days of March to good advantage and expect their now full fledged conditioning program for spring sports to pay dividends on the baseball diamond and cinder track during balmy May afternoons.

Concentrating on calisthenics and rope jumping in the gym and jogging on the now cleared board track, baseball, track, golf and tennis candidates are being put through their paces in an attempt to tune up unused muscles. In addition, Coach Kelly has his baseball battery men working out in daily sessions in the indoor cage. Led by veterans Paul Leihr, George Wiemann and Tommy Cruess, Kelly has what might develop into a well balanced pitching and catching staff. But, both Kelly and Brown agree that it's too early to make predictions. "You can't really tell what you have until you get the boys out on the track for time trials, and it's too early for that," according to Coach Brown.

A match with Dartmouth has been added to Midd's golf schedule—the match to be played on the Hanover links with a tentative date set as May 8.

Fraternity Affiliation Will Determine Team Divisions

Athletic Director Arthur M. Brown and Coach John J. Kelly announced that as of April 6, 1946, the intramural athletic program would be reinstated to its pre-war status of fraternity competition in sports.

Instead of the various teams being divided on the basis of the students' residence, as they have been until the present time, the grouping will depand on the students fraternity affiliation. This means that there will be nine squads competing in each team sport, one from each of Midd's eight fraternities, and a group composed of non-fraternity men.

A number of reasons has given rise to the athletic department's decision to revert to this plan. Primarily, there are but few men who are actually competing in the program now employed, whereas the restoration of the pre-war arrangement will assure full participation in all scheduled athletic contests. In addition, the spirit of friendly competition, which they feel to be lacking at the present time, will be regenerated by the use of the older plan.

Kelly has emphasized that the Trophy of Trophies, which is awarded annually to the organization scoring the highest number of points in all planned team and individual sports, will not be given out this term, but will be postponed until one full school year of competition has been completed.

Team competition in softball, board track relays and in the late spring, a track meet, as well as an individual tournament in tennis, are on the docket for the rest of the spring term.

WAA MEMBERS SPONSOR BRIDGE; OVER 100 ATTEND

The W. A. A. Bridge for the benefit of the Red Cross was held Saturday, March 9 in Forest Recreation room from two o'clock to five.

The W. A. A. sponsors an annual project at the beginning of the second semester. Although this was a dance last year a bridge is usually held.

There were four door prizes, won by Jeanne Picard '46, Janet Edwards '48, Carolyn Kanen '48, and Betty M. Linsley '49, and also a cigarette raffle. There were about 27 tables at the bridge and a total of nearly 200 tickets was sold.

Committees were composed of members of the W. A. A. Council as follows: tables and chairs, Jane Strayer '47; raffle and door prizes, Jeanette Cunningham '47; tickets, Jean Gunther '47, and Joan Roessle '48; publicity, Joanne Buckeridge '47.

NOTICES

There will be a sale of gym clothes and sneakers from the Lost and Found on Saturday, March 23, in the College gymnasium at 2:00 p.m.

Panthers Routed By St. Lawrence In Final Contest

The snappy St. Lawrence basketball quintet, sparked by two flashing forwards, Austin and Hawkins, severely trounced the Panther squad last Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium by a score of 57 to 36.

From the opening moment of play it was obvious that the Midd squad was outclassed by the rapid shifting, snappy passing and accurate eyes of the "Larries." A total of 34 points were piled up in the first half by the boys from Canton as against 21 for the Blue and White. Of the former, Austin and Hawkins proved their proficiency by accounting for 28 of them.

The second half found the same story with Coach Claxton's boys piling up the points and the home team unable to work itself into scoring positions. "Ev" Miller, acting captain, sunk two baskets and two free shots while Chapin, Carr, LaCroix and Nelson netted an additional nine, but this score was practically negligible before the attack of St. Lawrence which netted them an additional 23 points before the final gun sounded.

Thus ended one of the more unsuccessful years in Midd basketball history. It was obvious throughout the season that the rapidly changing personnel of the team, unavoidable because of war's exigencies, was a major cause of the final results.

Forest Rec Party Attracts Over 300 Saturday Evening

After the basketball game Saturday night, March 9, over 300 of the college students gathered in Forest Rec. for an informal evening of dancing and bridge. Coffee and doughnuts were served as refreshments.

Due to the success of this party, it is hoped that in the future other dorms will sponsor informal gatherings to offer an opportunity for college students to get to know each other.

Elizabeth E. Flandreau '47 was in charge of the party, while Martha W. Harvey '47 and Frances E. Swain '47 took care of the food and Jane M. Laux '46 supplied the music. Miss Rosamund E. Larmour, Forest House Director, acted as chaperone.

McGill Defeats Midd in Debate

The debating team of McGill university defeated the Middlebury group in a debate held Friday night, March 8, in Munroe 303, by a two to one decision on the subject, resolved: That there is a basis for industrial peace under private capitalism.

McGill held the affirmative side of the question stating that since both labor and capital are interested in profit under the present conditions it would be possible for them to cooperate if they so desired.

Students presenting the negative for Middlebury were Margaret D. Armstrong '47 and Joan C. Seidenman '47, who stated that there is no basis for cooperation between labor and management under the present conditions. However, neither side advocated any change in the system.

The debate was given in the Canadian style which allows a ten-minute speech on each side followed by a two-minute rebuttal for the affirmative. The next debate scheduled for the team will be held at Middlebury on March 23, against New York State Teachers College.

NOTICE

The Mountain club is holding a membership drive for the new students on the men's campus. The men are being solicited in their dorms, by Skyline tryouts. Membership costs 50 cents per semester, and entitles the member to reduced rates on all hikes, as well as other special benefits.

Forest Library Memorial Fund Adds 10 Volumes

Ten new books have been added to the Cecile Child Allen Memorial Library in the lounges of Forest East and West.

This collection now numbering 400 volumes, was started by the Alumnae Association and continued by Mrs. Allen's friends after her death. Mr. Allen contributed an endowment fund of $1,000.00, the interest from which is being used for purchasing current books.

Mrs. Allen, wife of G. H. V. Allen, ex-Treasurer of Middlebury College, was president of the Alumnae Association, life member of the Advisory Board of the Women's College, and a member of the committee on providing books for Forest.

The ten additional books include:

Collected Poems .....W. H. Auden
Cass Timberlane .....Sinclair Lewis
Short Stories and Poems Stephen Vincent Benet
One Man's Meat .....E. B. White
Basic History .....Charles Beard
The Crock of Gold .....James Stephens
Storm .....George R. Stewart
Home to India .....Santha Rama Rau
The Black Lamb and the Grey Falcon Rebecca West
One God .....Florence Mary Fitch

Rev. John C. Walker, Connecticut Minister To Speak at Vespers

Rev. John Curry Walker, since 1935 pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Waterbury, Conn., will speak at vespers in Mead chapel on Sunday, March 17.

Reverend Walker received his B.S. from Kalamazoo College, graduating Magna Cum Laude and being awarded prizes in mathematics, science, and philosophy. After serving with the A. E. F., 54th Coast Artillery Corps in France as a 2nd Lieutenant, he attended Manitoba College and received a B.A. from the University of Manitoba in 1924. Reverend Walker did post-graduate work at Edinburgh and Cambridge Universities, obtained an M.A. from the University of Manitoba and a Ph.D. from the University of Edinburgh.

He became assistant minister of the First Congregational Church of Montclair, N. J. in 1929, pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1931, co-pastor of the Plymouth Church of The Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1934, and minister of the Second Congregational Church in 1935.

Kathleen Brittain Social Chairman Of Junior Class

Kathleen K. Brittain was elected social chairman for the Junior class at a meeting held in Forest Rec. at 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 5. This election was necessitated by the fact that A. Elaine Gavagan, former social chairman became a member of the Senior class at the end of last term.

In a discussion on the reinstatement of comprehensive examinations, the class was divided into three factions. One group upheld the beneficial results of such examinations, one group seriously questioned their constructive qualities, while the third held an open attitude. A committee of three, representing each group, Janet Kraft, Margaret MacCormick, and Lois E. Southgate, were appointed to see the faculty committee studying the question, and present the views of the class.

Jeannette E. Cunningham, Class President, presided.

part in races at Amherst, Holy Cross, Harvard and Bowdoin colleges. The members constructed a Snipe for their own use.

Johnstone R. Law '47, was elected temporary chairman to preside over the next meeting, which is to be an organizational one. Professor Brown suggested that the success of the club will depend, in great part, upon the enthusiasm of its members.

Literary Club

The first meeting of the Literary club this semester was held Tuesday, March 5 in the Abernethy room of the library.

The meeting, at which about 35 were present, was a short one for the planning of future meetings and the reading and discussion of works contributed by club members. A sketch by Joan C. Seidman '47 was read and discussed as well as poems by I. Ann Myers '48 and Don A. Craig '48.

The club is planning to start work very shortly on Directions, the college literary magazine, which will come out at the end of the semester, and wishes to urge the student body to start making contributions as soon as possible. Any work done for Directions may be turned in to either Prof. Douglas S. Beers or Katherine A. Rowley '46.

Forum Members Instruct in Ripton

Five members of the Women's Forum of Middlebury took a trip to the two-room Ripton district school on March 1, to give the pupils there a class in arts and crafts.

The Forum hopes to hold this class weekly and with the advent of spring the problem of transportation should decrease. Mr. James Duff of Middlebury drove Edith M. Gordon '47, Joan H. Seidenman '47, Ann H. Bushnell '48, Ruth E. Phillippi '48, and Virginia C. Main '49 to Ripton. Mr. Duff is a general aid in Middlebury and has done many things for the Forum and the Community House.

Decorated Paper Plates

Three of the girls took the younger of the two groups of children, those of the first through the third grades. These children ranged up to ten years of age. This age range can be accounted for because some of the children are mentally backward. This group was given scalloped-edged paper plates, and on the faces of these plates, the children drew pictures and painted them, and then tied the plates with colored yarns.

The older group, instructed by Miss Gordon and Miss Bushnell, were fourth and sixth grade youngsters and they were given pieces of brightly colored felt material to cut and sew. From this material they made animal shaped lapel pins, and many seemed quite adept at the art of sewing. The children seemed fascinated and thrilled with the things the Middlebury students offered them.

Signs of Poverty

The children of this school are in all types of dress and were anything but tidy and clean. They have little opportunity to paint or draw due to the lack of facilities and time on the part of the teacher.

The Forum is conducting similar classes among junior high school children in Middlebury. There are about 20 in this group.

WAA Badminton Season to Start March 18, at 4:00

The badminton season will start next week under the leadership of Dorothy A. Lindemann '47.

All those interested are to sign up for half-hour periods during any of the hours from 4:00-5:30 on Mondays, Wednesdays, or Fridays, or on Wednesday nights from 7:00-9:00. To get W.A.A. credit towards the sports jacket, a girl must put in twelve hours of practice, and must participate in the tournament as well.

After a practice period of three weeks, there will be a set of all-women's single matches and all-men's singles, followed by the quarter finals for mixed doubles. In these latter matches, tournament partners will be drawn by chance.
